WE NOMINATE

Harry Hammond Hess, Lyman Spitzer Jr. and John Archibald Wheeler, three of this nation's distinguished young scientists, who in recognition of their achievements have been elevated to membership in the 89-year old National Academy of Sciences, the scientific "brain-trust" brought into being when Abraham Lincoln was seeking advice on technical matters. While the Academy fills no official function other than an advisory one, it is significant that each of its new Princeton members made a major contribution in World War II and has since continued to extend the frontiers of scientific knowledge.

Chairman of Princeton University's Department of Geology, Hess, 45 years old, whose geologic research has carried him to all parts of the world, was responsible during the war for one of the most important discoveries of the century relative to the typography of the Pacific Ocean Basin. In serving successively as navigator, executive and skipper of a 10,000-ton landing craft, he used fathometer surveys to prove the existence of numerous flat-topped sea-mounts at a depth of 3,000-6,000 feet between Hawaii and the Marianas. These he termed drowned sea-islands of the Pacific and christened "Guyots" in honor of Princeton's first professor of geology.

Spitzer, called to Princeton in 1947 at age 33 as a professor and departmental chairman, is an authority in theoretical astro-physics. Two years ago he attracted wide attention in presenting a new theory of creation which stated that the stars of the Milky Way were formed about 3,000,000,000 years ago out of flying cosmic clouds, thinner in substance than the purest vacuum ever produced on earth. In World War II years Spitzer directed the Navy's top-secret Sonar Analysis Group and later edited "Physics of Sound in the Sea."

The 40-year old Wheeler, a post-war Guggenheim Fellow, was one of the first American scientists to concentrate on nuclear fission and in 1939 co-authored with Neils Bohr, Danish physicist, the paper on the mechanism of nuclear fission which made it possible to predict the reactivity of plutonium before that new element had been synthesized. On leave from the University in 1950-51 to assist with the defense program, Wheeler in the war years helped plan and bring into operation the plutonium plant at Richland, Wash., and in 1947 suggested a new type of fission of uranium, or heavier elements, in which the energy liberated would be 50 per cent greater than that released by the atomic bomb.

For giving Princetonians three more valid reasons for taking tremendous pride in all that is being carried forward within the boundaries of their community; for meriting one of the highest distinctions which can be conferred upon American Men of Science; they are our nominees for Community Planning. Steps have been taken to fill a long-felt community need with organization of the Princeton Community Activities Book. In calendar form, it will serve as a compilation of dates selected for all events in the Princeton area.

The book will be available for daily consultation at the Princeton Public Library, with supervision to be provided by the librarian, Miss Jane McClure. It is a project launched by the Council of Community Services in cooperation with the library.

All community organizations are urged to file a list of their regularly scheduled meetings, and to avoid conflicts in planning special events by clearing dates in advance. The calendar to be used for the service was designed and arranged by Mrs. Philip Quigg of 218-B Eisenhower Street.

Major Project. One of the biggest community undertakings of the year is nearing the date of its presentation to the public as dates approach for performances of "The Sleeping Beauty" in McCarter Theatre. It will be staged jointly by the Junior Community Players and Audree Estey's ballet groups on Thursday and Friday, May 22 and 23.

A cast of 150 children and 12 adults is rehearsing under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Haight, who has prepared an original dramatization of the well-known story. Parts in the cast are being taken by Herbert McAneny, Robert McCullogh, Mrs. Roswell Miller, III, Mrs. Herbert Hall, Mrs. Donald Stuart, Jr., Henry Siegle, John Beebe, Grace Morton, Steven Young, Melissa Kay, Lynn McManus, Hester Delafield, Louise Rosendorf, Barbara Berry and Molly Wade.

Cast as children are Virginia Baunach, Linda Brown and Hattie Busselle; as serving girls, Joyce Johnson, Karen Peterson, Lorelei Fugill, Dorothy Stalker and Judith Delaney; as scullery boys, Charles Lawton, John Dilley, Cam McCluskey and Jeffery Kay.

Paul Barstow is serving as production chairman, with Roger Cook and Peter Van Zandt handling the lights. Mrs. Richard Stoddard has designed the medieval costumes for the occasion, with Mrs. Walker Stevenson, Jr. and Mrs. Robert Dilley co-chairman of the costume committee. Set design has been accomplished by Miss Dorothy Reiffel; Henry Minden heads the committee constructing the scenery.

Accompanist for the ballet groups is Mrs. Chester Stroup. Solving all problems arising from the presence of 150 children backstage, to marshalling them for entrance cues and entertaining them with games and comic books, are Mrs. Douglas H. MacNeil and Mrs. George Otis.

A Thursday matinee and a Friday evening performance are planned. Tickets are at the University Store.

Empty Humor. Princeton undergraduates, who staged a sit-down strike on Nassau Street one night last month, went a step further in unnecessary property infringement on Saturday. Lee Bellows (who operates Lillian Bellows, Inc. with his wife) reports that seven or eight of them halted his car shortly after midnight by walking down Nassau Street near University Place, arm in arm.

As the car came to a stop, one of the merrymakers climbed from bumper to hood and walked across the roof of the car. When Mr. Bellows got out and chased him, he reports that several others also walked over the top of the car. He could catch no one, and on returning to his 1952 sedan found the hood and roof severely marred and dented from a prank that seems to lack every semblance of humor.

Banquet Monday. The Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its annual banquet Monday at 6:30 at the Nassau Tavern. Mrs. Mary Gill Reef, club president, will preside, while Miss Fern Cloak is chairman of the banquet committee.

The speaker will be Miss Jane McClure, librarian in the Public Library, whose topic will be "Korea, Land of the Morning Calm." Mrs. Marjorie Kerr, Mrs. Anne Dennen and Mrs. Bertha Golden, members of the nominating committee, will present the slate of officers for the coming year.

Five members of the club will serve as delegates and alternates to the state convention of the federation of business and professional women's clubs in Atlantic City Saturday, May 17. They are Mrs. Dorothy Ferguson, Miss Myrtle Henson, Miss Alice Braveman, Miss Ann Camacho and Mrs. Polly Steele.

Memorial Day Plans. Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, making plans for its annual Memorial Day program, has announced that Dr. Howard A. Rusk, a member of the faculty at the New York University College of Medicine and an associate editor of The New York Times, will deliver the principal address here on May 30. The traditional parade and memorial services at the town's two cemeteries will open the program.

D. Don Richards, post commander, will serve as committee chairman. Donald W. Griffin and James M. Keels will be co-chairmen with Mr. Richards.

Festival Successful. The Y.W.C.A. reports that more than 650 persons attended its international festival, from which proceeds exceeded $1,000. Prints of pictures taken on the occasion and now posted at the 302 Nassau Street headquarters may be ordered for a small charge.

The association's World Fellowship Committee, headed by Mrs. Kenneth M. Ritchie, is planning a "Thank You Party" at which all

It's New to Us

About Time! (And Space). When did you last see a really detailed, up-to-date map of Princeton? Unless you have a surveryor in your family, the answer is probably a good decade ago.

Princeton University Press is publishing a new Princeton map next week, and you will be able to buy it for 50 cents at the Princeton Book Mart, 11 Palmer Square; Hinkson's, 71 Nassau; and other book and stationery stores. The map is 22 by 17 inches, folded three times into a neat booklet. Inside, there's a two-page history of the town, with a few remarks about commercial enterprises, research organizations and population. You will even find a list of reading suggestions.

Maps of the borough and township are as up-to-date as this issue of TOWN TOPICS. And the campus map is something all of us will want to keep. Every building on the campus has been sketched in detail (if you don't believe us, just count the windows!)

Map and sketches were done by Richard Stockton Snedeker. The Press doesn't have an unlimited number of these treasures so we suggest you buy your copy as soon as you can. As we said, "It's about time."

Fit for a Lady. At the Wellesley Club Bazaar at Miss Fine's School this Saturday, you'll find a distinguished line of custom-fit casual clothes—The Inverurie.

At the bazaar, you'll be measured for the garment you select: skirt, blouse, slacks or shorts. We don't begin to have enough space to list for you the wide variety of style, color and fabric you can choose from. To give you an idea—if you select a Shetland sweater, you have to decide among 32 colors!

(Sweaters, incidentally, are not custom-made. You order them in your usual size. Some of the sweaters on display Saturday will be for sale, but most of them have to be ordered.)

After you've picked your color from the 32, you may decide to have the sweater banded in red Frazer, dress Stewart or MacKenzie. Or you may prefer cashmere, in a short-sleeved pullover with tiny cables at the neck, or in classic cardigan.

Cashmeres come in five colors, including white. We never knew this before, but it seems that white cashmere is almost impossible to get; raw cashmere is pretty dirty before it's processed, and it's extremely difficult to clean the yarn enough to come up with a good white.

Your skirt can be tweed or linen. (Wait'll you see the pastel tweeds!) In the tweed line are checks, mixes, heathery things and, of course, a selection of authentic tartans. Four shades of grey wool are available—one of them a stripe. And the colors, if you please, are dyed to match the colors in the Shetland yarns.

Blouses are the classics: Peter Pan or convertible necklines, sleeveless or short sleeves. Again, colors are the whole spectrum and if you want to, you can even have a monogram. The linen is crease-resistant Tootal, spun in Ireland, finished in those who took part in the festival will be guests. It will be held next Friday, May 16, at 8 o'clock in the 4 Green Street center. Square dancing will be included among the various events on the program.

Peterson to Leave Bank. Frederic R. Peterson, administrative trust officer of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, has resigned the position he has held there since 1945. He accepted a management position with the T. P. Reed Company of Pennington, dealers in grain and fertilizers.

Mr. Peterson is secretary-treasurer of the Stony Brook Watershed Association. A resident of Hopewell, he is mayor of that borough.

Appeal to End. The women's division of the United Jewish Appeal will hold a tea Wednesday afternoon at 3 at the home of Mrs. Henry Abrams, 4 Armour Road. It will be the final event in a campaign round-up which includes door-to-door solicitation to help meet Princeton's goal in the $151,-500,000 national drive for aid to Israel, refugee relief and resettlement assistance to 8,500 new residents of the United States.

Mollie Gladstone, well-known as an artist and actress, who has spent considerable time in Israel studying problems that confront the new nation, will be the speaker Wednesday. Dr. Marion Spear is chairman of the women's division; assisting her are Mrs. Sidney Sternberg, Mrs. Norman Denard, Mrs. Seymour Bogdenoff, Mrs. William Abrams and Mrs. Benjamin Miller.

Miscellany. Daughters have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Van Horn, 181½ Chestnut; Mr. and Mrs. George M. Scott, 164 Witherspoon; Mr. and Mrs. Harley Goldsmith, Ewing Street; Mr. and Mrs. William Webster, Cherry Valley Road; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Horowitz, Brunswick Pike; and a girl, not a boy as reported last week, to Mr. and Mrs. Reeves Hicks, Princeton Junction.

Sons to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lloyd, Jr., 134 Jefferson; Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Megna, 15 University; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Iglewski, Somerville Road; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kilgore, Snowden Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Roberts, Lafayette Road.

Additional volunteers are wanted for "Operation Skywatch." The project run by the Civilian Defense Council to identify all planes.

News of the Theatres

MURRAY THEATRE

The Searching Sun, the new play by John O'Hara, will run through Saturday, May 17, except Sunday, in Murray Theatre on the University campus as a joint production of the Theatre Intime and the Community Players. John English, Moyne Smith, Etienne Sturhahn, Mary Sarett and Irving Van Zandt, Jr. have the principal roles.

The plot traces the emotional turbulence and intrigue brought by a group of theatre and society people into the quietly purposeful lives of a Long Island doctor and his wife, who serve as catalyst and chorus for the tragic action. Tickets at the University Store and box office; telephone 3333 for reservations.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT

The 60-voice University Glee Club, directed by Professor Elliot Forbes, will sing this Friday at 8:30 in Alexander Hall. The organization's nation-wide tour was most successful and the final opportunity to hear the club this spring should not be lost.

The program will include selections from Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado;" a Schubert cantata; folk songs, a series of selections by American composers; American spirituals, an "Ivy League Medley" by Professor Forbes and Princeton songs, in conclusion. Tickets, $1.25, at the door.

McCARTER THEATRE

The Charles Weidman Dance Group, consisting of nine dancers and a pianist, will be seen in the McCarter this Friday night at 8:30 as part of Series II in the University Concerts. The program will range from the classical style through all varieties of the modern pantomime. Tickets at the University Store and box office.

CHILDREN'S ENTERTAINMENT

The Princess and the Swineherd, a Hans Christian Anderson story, will be dramatized by the Troubadour Players this Friday afternoon on the Princeton High School grounds. The first performance at 2 (not 2:30 as previously announced) will be staged for children in the Nassau and Quarry Street schools. Parents are asked to call for them there at 3.

A second performance will be given at 3:30, with tickets on sale at the school grounds. In the event of rain, the play will be presented in the gymnasium.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Quo Vadis (Thurs.-Sat.), one of the longest and definitely the most expensive pictures ever made, is worth seeing purely as a spectacle. So vast are its proportions from the architectural scale of ancient Rome and the fire that consumes it, to the 30,000 extras parading across the screen—that nothing quite like it has ever been filmed before and, because of the $6,500,000 it cost, may never be again.

Robert Taylor and Deborah Kerr head a cast that is sometimes guilty of shoddy acting and often

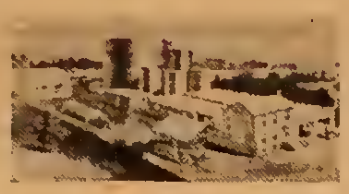
EASY BUDGET PAYMENTS



The amount of Princeton Fuel Oil you use month by month varies with the coldness of the winter. You won't use much of your yearly total in early fall and late spring, but you will in December, January, and February. As a result, your monthly fuel bills will be the highest in those winter months. If you wish, you can even out monthly payments by using our Budget Payment Plan, which spreads your annual bill evenly over each month of the heating season. There are no charges for this extra service and, in the end, you pay only for the oil you've used at the regular posted price on the day of delivery. Many of our customers prefer this way of paying.

Slated to go on a 24-hour basis next Saturday, May 17, the aircraft spotting must fill gaps in the radar screen that protects the nation's coastline. Men and women from 16 to 60 who can give two hours a week in this work are asked to notify Heyward Greenland, Box 16.

The Hospital Aid Committee will hold its spring rummage sale Thursday at the Chambers Street firehouse from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., with a sale of furniture, kitchen utensils and books to precede it on Wednesday. Contributions may be left at the firehouse Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 to 5; transportation can be arranged by telephoning Mrs. Harry F. Olson, sale chairman, at 790.

St. Paul's PTA will meet this Friday night at 8 to elect officers, hear a talk by a representative of the Trenton Air Defense Filter Center and see motion pictures. Plans will be made for a Communion Breakfast on Sunday, May 18. Mothers of first grade children will be in charge of refreshments.

Officers of the Township Schools PTA, to be installed May 20, are Mrs. Jan Rajchman, president; Mrs. Nelson Thompson, vice-president; Mrs. John Donal, second vice-president; Mrs. Max Mesner, secretary; Mrs. Fred Burrell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Shaw, treasurer.

The association is sponsoring a program of dental hygiene to improve the health of all pupils in the school and gauged to educate both children and their parents on the subject. Mrs. William Kleinberg, health and safety chairman for the PTA and Mrs. Bertha Eisenmann, supervising principal, are directing the project.

A study of various aspects of county government will be presented by the League of Women Voters next week. Princeton women who have prepared the information, in cooperation with others from Trenton and Ewing Township, are Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. Harold Cherniss, Mrs. John Fine, Mrs. Jan Rajchman, Mrs. R. J. Kaufmann, Mrs. E. W. Suppiger, Mrs. Donald Wallace, Mrs. Harold Gulliksen, Mrs. Harold Kuhn, Mrs. John Gurley, Mrs. Arthur Jensen, Mrs. John Brinster, Mrs. Reeves Hicks, Mrs. Paul Rudnick, Mrs. Albert Rose and Mrs. Warren Findley.

All women of the community are invited to attend one of the following meetings the league will sponsor: Monday, 3 p.m., Mrs. Eugene Wigner, 8 Ober Road; 8:15 p.m., Mrs. Lyman Spitzer, 16 Prospect Avenue; Tuesday, 8:15 p.m., Mrs. J. Douglas Brown, The Dean's House; Wednesday, 10 a.m., Mrs. Stanley Howard, 105 FitzRandolph Road; 8:15 p.m., Mrs. Dana Munro. Discussion leaders will be Mrs. Wigner, Mrs. Stanley Smoyer, Miss Hazel Beinjamin, Mrs. Gerald Bentley and Miss Lawrence Norris.

John Beebe, 12-year old son of Mrs. Patricia Beebe of 63 South Stanworth, has won the John G.

hindered by trite dialogue, but all that is lost in the turmoil of an ancient empire fascinatingly re-created on the 20th century motion picture screen. Shows at 3:15 at 8:40.

My Six Convicts (Sun-Tues.) is a watered-down version of last year's book, relating the experiences of a criminal psychologist who was assigned six inmates in Leavenworth to study the effect of drug addiction on lawlessness. The story generally moves at a good clip but some of the episodes of prison life strain credulity. Gilbert Roland and John Beal head a capable cast.

The Marrying Kind (Wed-Sat.) details the ups and downs of seven years of wedlock for Judy Holiday and newcomer Aldo Ray. Much of it resorts to flashback to show why they're on the verge of divorce, blending comedy and drama but rarely rising above the ordinary run of entertainment.

THE GARDEN

Boots Malone (Fri-Sat.) is a typical but rather well told racing story: hopeful souls who acquire a long-shot champion, gamblers bent on fixing the race, a boy jockey intent on riding a winner. William Holden and 15-year old Johnny Stewart head the cast.

How Green Was My Valley (Mon-Tues.), one of the topflight pictures of a decade ago, is back as a reissue. A romantic drama based on the best seller by Richard Llewellyn, it is set in the Welsh mining country. Good photography and fine acting by Walter Pidegon and Maureen O'Hara.

Mr. Peek-a-Boo (Wed.-Thurs.) is the name an amused soul takes when he suddenly finds he has the ability to walk through walls. A French comedian known as Bourvil heads the cast, but the dialogue is in English. Light, romantic comedy with a few amusing twists.

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

Earthquake in Flatbush. Not since the day the Giants got Leo Durocher from Brooklyn has there been anything to match this development on the Princeton sports scene. The Belle Mead entry in the Twin-M Baseball League is using uniforms given to the team by the New York Giants. Wearing one of them as a Belle Mead player (since Princeton is not represented in the circuit this year) is Tom Brophy, as rabid a Brooklyn Dodger fan as any to be found in Flatbush itself.

Action in the Stadium. A track meet with Cornell that should be of unusual interest; a lacrosse game with Yale on University Field; the Eastern 150-lb. rowing championships and the Carnegie Cup regatta involving nine crews representing Cornell, Princeton and Yale will provide a full afternoon of athletics Saturday. For details on starting times, see the Calendar of the Week.

Beating Yale in track at New Haven last weekend for the first victory in this sport over the Elis since 1951 has given Matty Geis' operatives hopes for a perfect season. Principal barrier to such a goal is a strong Cornell team which will battle it out with the Tigers in Palmer Stadium Saturday.

A series of topflight performances, capped by Buzz Taylor's mark of 25 feet, 2¾ inches in the broad jump for a new Princeton record, gave the Tigers a 73-67 triumph at New Haven. Most unusual of the ten firsts taken by Princeton was the winning javelin throw by Frank McPhee. Captain-elect of the football team, Frank had never touched a javelin until a month ago, but is such a versatile athlete that he was good enough Saturday to win with a toss of 179 feet, 11 inches.

Cornell Favored in Crew. Hoping for better than the three second-place finishes that have been its lot this season, the crew will go after Yale and Cornell at 5:40 as the climax of a busy day on the lake. The Ithacans are favored to win the cup that Yale took last year and Princeton last won in 1949.

Harvard lifted the Compton Cup from the Tigers' last Saturday, understroking the Orange and Black all the way and winning by two lengths. The Crimson jayvees were beaten when an oar lock broke, the number two man lost his oar and promptly dove overboard to lighten the boat. Princeton took that race by a half length and the come Eastern League victories last week. The Tigers set back Penn, 9-4, in 12 innings and then trounced Navy, 9-2, on Saturday.

Sisler picked up both decisions, winning in relief at Philadelphia, after Harry Brightman had gone well for eight innings against the Quakers. He hit top form in turning back the midshipmen, throwing only 117 pitches, more than half of them strikes as he fanned 14.

While Dave was holding the Tars to five singles and a lone earned run, Princeton battered two pitchers for 16 hits good for 20 bases. Bill Tryon's third-inning homer was the biggest blow, sending the Nassau nine off to a lead it never relinquished.

The big test in the Eastern League comes Saturday, when the team plays a doubleheader against Cornell at Ithaca. It will have to win both games to stay in contention, and then top Columbia in New York Wednesday. All of this is a pretty rugged assignment, especially since the infield still tends to crop up with errors that can send close games the wrong way.

Short Notes. Irwin Weiss' high school track team continued to roll along last week, swamping Hamilton, 100½ to 16½, and then successfully defending its title in the Newark City meet. The latter occasion saw the Little Tigers come up with 28½ points in a tourney for Group I, II and, III schools throughout the state. Cranford was second with 19½; Morristown, Long Branch and a dozen others trailed.

Buster Thomas won the 220-yard dash in 23 seconds, while Tom Perks took the 12-pound shot put event with a heave of 52 feet, ten inches, setting a new Princeton record for the second time in a week. Perks had scored a triple against Hamilton, winning the shot, discus and javelin.

What had been expected to be tough opposition folded completely before the Blue and White Tuesday afternoon as Long Branch went down by an 81-36 count. Jim Varner scored a triple, winning both hurdles and the broad jump, while Tom Perks won the shot and the discus, setting a new PHS record in the latter event with a toss of 142 feet, 2 inches.

The Long Branch Relays Saturday and the Mercer County meet Tuesday lie ahead of the Little Tigers. They're favored to win the latter event again, and to go unbeaten for the third straight season. The Long Branch meet was their 32d straight.

Princeton High School's baseball team topped Pennington, 4-1, Tuesday afternoon behind the four-hit pitching of Dave Maas. Del Wible and Earl Mitnaul hit doubles in the third round, when the Little Tigers scored all their runs.

Last week, Hamilton High was defeated, 7-6, in an extra-inning battle. Mitnaul's hit with the bases filled gave Coach Morrill Shepard's team the victory. The Blue and White is now 3-0 for the season.

Hun School's baseball team has triumphed over Admiral Farragut, the George School and Delbarton in the past week. Jack Liske hurled an 11-0 shutout in the first contest, Pat Tidey beat George School, 5-3, and Tony Sennino and Liska shared the mound duties against Delbarton in a 7-3 victory.

Hun Memorial Scholarship, good for four years' tuition at the Hun School. He's on the high honor roll at the Witherspoon School. Joel Davidow, 13-year old Trenton resident, also an honor student, won the John L. Kuschke Scholarship.

Antiques, paintings, gardens and a modern fireplace that requires no chimney will be among the added attractions for the "Open House" tour scheduled for Saturday, May 17. Ten Princeton homes of varying architectural design and age will be open to the public from 12:30 to 5:30; proceeds will benefit the scholarship funds of Radcliffe and Mount Holyoke Colleges. Tickets ($2) are on sale at Hinkson's, the University Store and the Lawrenceville Jigger Shop.

Edmund D. Cook, head of the company bearing his name, is a member of the governing council of the Institute of Real Estate Management which met in Chicago this week. The council held a seminar on "Creative Management" and announced plans to promote Accredited Management Organizations (of which the Cook firm is one) from coast to coast through a national advertising program.

The English Speaking Union of Princeton will hold a garden party for members and guests Thursday and Friday, May 15 and 16, from 3 to 6 at the homes of Mrs. A. B. Ayres and Miss Emma Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Clemen of Edgerstoune Road. All British students in Princeton are invited to attend.

and promptly dove overboard to lighten the boat. Princeton took that race by a half length and the freshman event by better than two, while its freshman lightweights defeated Harvard and Yale by four lengths. But Harvard also took three races and both cups, winning the Goldthwait trophy when its varsity fifties won by two lengths over Yale and four over Princeton. The Crimson is a likely bet to capture the Eastern title this weekend.

England. For under $30, you may have a monogrammed blouse and a skirt to match in this superb fabric.

How about a sports shirt made of Lanella, a fabric like Viyella that's half wool, half cotton and mothproof. We like the idea of a long-sleeved sports shirt made in one of the three checks available.

So—why not turn your child loose on the pony-ride man, and get yourself measured?

It Can't Be True. How long does it take you to clean out a paintbrush? If you're doing a two-tone job do you use two paintbrushes? No matter how wide your experience as a painter, you have probably never encountered a brush-cleaner like Kolor-Brij, now on sale at The Wright Store, 130 Nassau.

You buy a pint (49 cents) or a quart (89 cents.) When you want to clean the paint off your brush, you dip the brush into the can, and in 30 seconds (we didn't time it, but somebody did) your brush is clean.

There isn't even any residue left in the heel of the brush. You can dip into another color right away, or leave your brush for tomorrow's paint job, certain that it will be soft and pliable when you want it.

Kolor-Brij can be used over and over again. The paint that comes off your brush settles to the bottom of the can and displaces the Kolor-Brij you use. As you can see, a pint or quart will last the ordinary householder longer, probably, than his paint brush.

Wright's also has a garden hose accessory that looks to us like a time-saver. It's a brass connector you snap onto the end of your hose. Then you snap the connector into the sill cock or the sprinkler. No screwing at all. It costs only 95 cents so you could buy your gardener (i.e. husband) three or four to use whenever he has a hose connection to make.

Prints for the Provinces. There's a new fabric at Bootherstone's, 10 Chambers Street, that would be spicy and colorful in any provincial decorating scheme. The fabric is called Glo-Chintz. (It's a combination of glosheen and chintz, in case you're an etymologist.)

What it amounts to is a chintz without the shine, or a glosheen with more body to it. We saw a selection of small provincial prints that would set off any country-style bedroom. Others were a bit more formal, and would be excellent for a summer lift to your living room. There are small florals in almost every color and every background color you can name.

There's also a story-book nursery print with familiar nursery-rhyme people on a plain ground. It's a wide-spaced print that would keep your child's room uncluttered. (Uncluttered by pattern, that is. We can't vouch for any other clutter.)

Another print in the grown-up section has the wide-open space look, too. Yellow (or red, green, etc.) strawberries grow on a broad field of white (or red, green, etc.). This might look well in dinette or at kitchen windows. Fabric is 36 inches wide and only $1.95 a yard.

Do You Collect? If you don't, the ceramic animals at Price's, 86 Nassau, will start you off. They come in families: ducks, owls, burros, Siamese cats, rabbits, even a mamma caterpiller and her baby (he's a scant half-inch long.)

You can get boxers in several stances, and cockers, too. Even a raccoon, if that's your pet. We think the turtle, the caterpillars and the baby bird would enliven a dish garden. After all, they cost only 25c to $1. How about a whole menagerie?

FORWARD PLANNING

Forward planning, in industry, is a combination of getting the facts; applying common sense; making a plan and putting it into action.

If you are planning new construction, a good fact to have is that Lewis C. Bowers and Sons, Inc., have been "Designers and Builders Since 1901."

Common sense should tell you to consult them on their "Single Contract—Complete Job" plan.

When this plan goes into operation, then you can credit yourself with "forward planning."
